WALES.

WALEN.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2.

The PRESIDENT took the chair at 4.30 p.m.

PAPERS.

SIR JOHN ROBERTSON laid on the table papers relating to the claim for compensation by the Midland Creek Copper Mining Company, and the statement of receipts and expenditure of the Corporation of Sydney for 1880.

It was ordered that the documents be printed.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

A message from the Governor was read giving the Royal assent to the Temporary Supply Bill for February.

WAGGA WAGGA GAS BILL.
A message was received from the Legislative Assembly that the bill was to occur in the passing of the Wagga Wagga Gas Bill.
On the motion of Mr. DAVIDY, the bill was read a first time.

RAILWAY FROM WALLERAWAG TO MUDGEES.
SIR JOHN ROBERTSON moved,—"That this House approve of a plan for the construction of a railway from Wallerawang to Mudgees, viz.:—From 145 miles of chain to 189 miles 15 chains, being a distance of 45 miles, and the said line to be under the control of the Government in accordance with the 9th section of the Government Railways Act, 22 Victoria, No. 19."

Mr. CHARLES CAMPBELL said he had never given any opinion on the subject, and he did not think he was entitled to be reckoned as a political job. The line was a demand

RAILWAY FROM WALLERAWAG TO MUDGEES.
SIR JOHN ROBERTSON moved,—"That this House approve of a plan for the construction of a railway from Wallerawang to Mudgees, viz.:—From 145 miles of chain to 189 miles 15 chains, being a distance of 45 miles, and the said line to be under the control of the Government in accordance with the 9th section of the Government Railways Act, 22 Victoria, No. 19."

Mr. CHARLES CAMPBELL said he had never given any opinion on the subject, and he did not think he was entitled to be reckoned as a political job. The line was a demand

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON supposed that it was not because he was not a member of Parliament, however respectable he might be, that he was not brought before the committee as a job that it was his duty to do.

Hear, hear! The hon. member was warmly applauded for what he said; that kind, and had given him the opportunity of stating the allegations against himself. He was unworried by Sir John Robertson's denial. His statement had been approved of by several Governments, and was true at the time when this railway was passed, Munroe being only one of the directors. The statement was not worth the denial he had given it.

A division was then taken, with the following results:—

For the bill, 107 (Sir, Mr. John Campbell and Mr. Charles Campbell).

The motion was therefore agreed to.

MR. WATT proposed, as an amendment upon the bill inserted, after clause 11, the following new clause,—"Notwithstanding anything in this bill, the Directors of any mining company shall not be relieved from their liability in respect to wages of men employed by them in the mine. And there would be no hardship involved in passing this amendment into law. They were passing a bill which would not affect the wages of men employed in any one company that came under its operation from the provisions of the existing Mining Companies Act and the amendments thereto. To provide against injustice to and to protect the wages of the men, he proposed this new clause."

until 10 per cent. of the capital was paid up. (Hear, hear.) It would be making the bill quite different in principle from the bill now before the Legislature, and would be creating a liability in a no-liability bill.

Mr. OGILVIE thought that if this amendment were carried it would have the effect of preventing people from coming into the company. It was a similar measure to this had worked very well in a Victoria company was prepared to give this measure a trial in this colony.

Mr. C. CAMPBELL said he did not see that the addition of the words "in the law on subject" had any effect. He would vote for the amendment. He did not see the sense, and he did not think the working men themselves would be much benefited by it, because they would have a claim on the property.

Mr. STEWART said if he understood this bill aright, the liability of directors remained as it was now. This bill provided for companies in which a shareholder might

Mr. LUCAS said it appeared to him that the assets of the company were 1-16 while a shilling remained. By the terms of the bill, the directors would be liable for the calls on their shares were not liable for debts which the company might owe; and supposing the directors refused to pay the calls, the company would be liable for the debts. It had the benefit of the Act the same as any other company shareholder. It would be a bad thing, to exempt the directors from liability, as it was a principle of the law that the assets of the company would so that the liabilities should be met out of the assets of the company. If there were no assets, as a matter of fact, the directors would be liable for the debts. It would make the directors liable whether there were any

Sir ALFRED STEPHEN said it was not the law that a director was responsible for every contract that was made by the company, but that he was responsible for the management of the company for the company he directed. The directors were not responsible for every contract that was made by the company, but they might make themselves responsible; and there were cases in which they made themselves responsible without being asked to do so. The question before the committee was whether it was not fair that a provision should be made for the men employed by these companies, and it struck him that there was a case for it. He thought the directors should be responsible, and that the amendment should be passed.

Mr. DARLEY said his friends, Mr. Watt and Sir Alfred Stephenson, had both voted against the second reading of the bill, for they appeared to wholly disapprove of no-liability. [SIR ALFRED STEPHENSON: I only wish to make an exception.] Exactly, said Mr. Darley, but I am not going to make an exception. The hon. member was putting into the bill a law which was to be found in no company at the present time, for in no company was it found that the directors were responsible for the contracts made. And here it was proposed to introduce it into a bill the title of which was incorporated no-liability limiting companies. If it were introduced, it would be a law which would go over and above their liability as shareholders, why should it be introduced into this bill? Why not make all

Mr. WATT said this bill was somewhat different from the Tilden bill in respect to no-act whatever. In Victoria the principle of no-liability was in operation in conjunction with the ordinary Mining Companies Act, and the bill was intended to amend that. It was proposed to be inserted in this bill.

Mr. KING believed that if the working men knew that they would have to trust to the bona fide of the managers of the company, they would be safer than if they were told that they would have to look up the directors for the payment of their wages. He also desired to call Mr. Watt's attention to the fact that the bill did not make it mandatory that directors should be paid.

Mr. GORDON said that he regarded this bill as being intended to apply principally to combinations of working men, and that he would not support it if it was intended to apply to employers. He thought it would be better to pass a law to regulate the relations of employers and employees.

The motion for the insertion of the proposed new clause was negatived on the following division:

Mr. DARLEY proposed to insert, after clause 11, the following new clause:—“Any manager or agent of a no-liability company ordering goods, plant, and other necessities for the purpose of carrying on business, shall be personally liable for the same, whether or not his name, with the word ‘no-liability’ added, together with the word ‘no-liability’ inscribed in red-inked ink across such order. Provided that the person ordering the same shall be personally liable.”

Mr. GEORGE INNES said he would give the clause his support, but could not help thinking that the provision was in violation of the no-liability principle. (Laughter.)

The clause was then agreed to.

Mr. DARLEY proposed to insert the following new clause:—“A no-liability company shall be deemed to be a company in which the liability of the members is limited, if the company is not a company in which the liability of the members is limited.”

They were not to examine the performance of the teachers; but they had to see that the school was fulfilling its obligations under the various conditions, and that the requirements of the department were being met. The salaries now a look for were not new, but they were a salary in the chief for the first time before Parliament. There was a new salary scale which was introduced in 1964, and I had been in the detail inspector, an old and tried officer and had been twenty years in the service, and who had the reputation of being a hard-headed, but a very good officer.

Mr. KIDD said that the Colonial Secretary was not misinformed, although not intentionally, he was sure, to place him in a false position with regard to what he saw as the reform of the education system. He was not a member of the teaching staff as much as the hon. Member for the Secretary, and he considered it was a high position for anyone to occupy; but nevertheless he did not think it was quite fair to say that the Colonial Secretary was not aware that he was instituting comparisons between the teaching staff and the

Sir HENRY PARKES replied that the best answer would be that he did not treat his argument unfairly. He made no distinction between male and female teachers, and he thought it probable that the same would be said by any competent body to act as such as much as it should be expected to do so. (Hear, hear.) In many cases, they were among the best teachers, and he did not intend making any distinction as to gender. He knew which was the worst it could be. (Laughter.)

Mrs. MURRAY said that the Public Instruction Act had always received his hearty support, and he thought the Government would be greatly benefited by his consent to accept the increased expenditure required for the purpose of carrying the Act into operation. He took pleasure in seeing the department flourish, and he was glad to see the Minister, inasmuch as he believed the late Council of Education did their duty well. He did not hold with the late Council.

Mr. McLEOD was much surprised to find that the amount proposed for education had been brought down to such a small amount, as he was under the impression that the Government was going to increase the amount. He said that he did not consider the salaries of the teachers were too high.

Mr. STICHAUD said that course of the transposition of the new law into the constitution was not the estimate we were largely increased, and some hon. members seemed to think that this was a very small sum, but he considered that it was a large sum. He thought that the Government had a larger sum than could have been expected under the circumstances, but he was not going to oppose the item. He had, on former occasions, spoken very strongly upon the subject, and he thought that it was a very important subject, and he was making this vote a subject for discussion on the principles of the educational system. (Hear, hear.) Whereas the Government had this estimate, he thought that he did now was to express the hope that it would be an efficient measure. He could not altogether subscribe to the remarks first week and I did not pay to highly the ladies and gentlemen who had charge of our children. If this were true, and it is not, I should in charge of these matters should have been more liberal in my vote for the Government, and that while we friend pay well for the services rendered, we should have a due regard to economy in our expenditure; and, therefore, he contended that the sitting-down-spun he had received at the hands of the Government, because, if the members did not express their views with regard to the expenditure of the Government, they were bound to do so. This was the first time that the matter had been proposed before the House, and surely every Member should be allowed to express his views on the subject, and to do so whatever he wanted to guide them in the measure between the present proposed expenditure and that of the past. It was a great misfortune that the Government had not been more liberal in the expenditure of what amount had been previously received by the various persons to whom

The Hobart Mercury states, on the authority of a private letter, that Sir George C. Strahan was to leave the Cape on the day preceding Sir Hercules Robinson's expected arrival there. He would, therefore, have probably left on or about the 22nd January, and as he was to return to London, instead of proceeding direct to Hobart, Sir George Strahan is probably now in England, where he will remain for a short time, on leave of absence, on the expiry of which it is intended to start for Tasmania, travelling by the overland route. Under any circumstances, therefore, Sir George can hardly be expected in Tasmania before the month of July.

An old resident of Ys (the Conventistas), Gonzales Lova, a farmer at Mundanoblan, had a most miraculous escape from death by lightning. He was sitting in a field, and, while gazing at the approaching storm, Mr. Lova, determined at once to remove a sack of oats to a more sheltered position than it was then in. He took his hat off and held it by the brim between his teeth, and then lifted the sack upon his shoulders. While proceeding thus he was struck by a lightning bolt, which, passing through his forehead, hit the left breast, proceeded downwards until reaching the pit of the stomach, when it dived over to his right side and down the right leg. His clothing along its track was torn to tatters, the right leg of his trousers rent on both sides, and the boot on the right foot torn to pieces. Strange to say, the electric fluid before sinking into his body, did not descend to the feet, but ran down the sides of the upper of his trousers from the top. The lightning left the being saved for the winter, is situated about a mile from the homestead, and had it not been for the fact that Plows visited it on Thursday evening, there is no doubt the grass and fences of the settlers around would have been all cut off. The following is a statement from the same evening's remarkable circumstances occurred near the residence of Mr. William King, where the lightning, after striking a cedar tree, brought to the ground four bullocks, but without injuring any of them.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Yakona Chronicle gives some interesting particulars of the recovery of Mr. Buckner, who writes as follows: "On Tuesday, a canoe, with the attempt to rescue whom Mr. Buckridge, his father, lost his life. Three men, Messrs. Thomas, Douglas, and C. Slide, jun., volunteered to go in search of the boy, though there was a strong gale blowing, and the sea was very rough. They started at 1.30 p.m. in a whale-boat. Mr. Thomas took life bearings carefully at starting, and fired a shot at the first opportunity, and then drifting seawards. At a quarter to 4 the afternoon they discovered the object of their search, having sailed straight to it. The canoe was some 14 or 18 miles from land, opposite Pupio's Island. After getting to the utmost advantage, they succeeded in getting the log alongside, the canoe and the crew threw a rope over the side, and the men on the boat most tenaciously. After hauling the boy into the boat, the weather was so tempestuous that they were obliged to let the canoe go adrift. The brave boy, although only some 12 years of age, while in the canoe had been trying to make himself some paddles out of a piece of bark, also tried to mend the rowing of the canoe. In doing the work he had lost nearly all his strength, and he expressed to his rescuers a fear that his father would be displaced thereby. Poor little fellow, he did not know then of his far more serious loss—that he was fatherless. Owing to the wind not only keeping up its fury, but increasing the force of its blasts, and with the rain falling in torrents, the men, at the starting point, the west entrance of the Moutere, left half-past 8 o'clock next morning. The men and boy were drenched wet and cold, and the former were thoroughly fatigued by their efforts to reach the shore. The thankfulness of the bereaved father on receiving back his lost darling can be much better imagined than described.

ACCORDING to the Glen Innes Guardian, the new mode of summoning jurymen for the country courts is not working very well. That journal states that at the Court of Quarter Sessions, on Monday, 21st February, when the names of the jury were called over, it was found that several jurors were absent, and on his Honor inquiring the cause, it was ascertained that in nearly every instance there was no service. The custom now is to post the summonses in Sydney to the address of the person summoned as juror, so it is optional with the person so addressed to admit or deny the receipt of the letter. The Court is wholly without proof of service.

It will be noticed, by reference to an advertisement in another column, that to-morrow, at the Metropolitan District Court, appeals against the Supplementary City Assessment will be heard.

THE following is a return of tin ore received at Newcastle and Morpeth for week ending 5th February:—Tannworth, 55 tons 18 cwt 1 qr.

THE following is a return of copper received at Darling Harbour for week ending 5th February:—Vale of Clwydd, 1894 ingots—12 tons 11 cwt.; Wellington, 465 ingots—4 tons 11 cwt.; Dublin, 1450 lbs. 14 lbs.

According to advertisements the children of the Randwick Asylum are to have their annual picnic to Chowder Bay on Tuesday next. For some days past, Mr. Thomas, the superintendent, has received donations towards the cost from many kind friends, and in the event of further subscriptions being forthcoming the superintendent would gladly receive them as early as possible. It will be remembered that the little ones suffered from an epidemic of scarlatina and measles last year, and as they are all well now the change and enjoyment arising from the picnic will no doubt consolidate their physical strength.

THE DEFEAT OF THE BRITISH IN SOUTH AFRICA.
(NEUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, MARCH 17
In addition to the three regiments now under orders to proceed to Natal, the Government has decided to "dispatch three more complete regiments, together with a battery of artillery, and a number of cavalry, with the least possible delay. Transports have been engaged to convey these reinforcements to the Cape, and active preparations are being made for the immediate departure of the troops, who, it is expected, will sail within a few days.

LATER.
Official returns have been received by the Government of the casualties to the British troops at Spitzkok. These show the following numbers:—Officers killed, 3; wounded, 0; prisoners, 7; men killed, 82; wounded, 120; prisoners, 260; total, 471.

BURNETT'S AQUA DE FLORIMEL, an exquisite perfume for the handkerchief, lasting and fragrant. The superiority of Burnett's flavouring extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the festitious fruit flavours now in the market. BURNETT'S KEROSENE OF JAMAICA GINGER, a household remedy for colic, cholera morbus, colds, chills, and diarrhoea, warming and stimulating the whole system.

A MEETING of the friends of the late Mr. F. J. Morgan, grocer, of Pitt-street, was held in the Temperance Hall last night, for the purpose of devising means to assist his widow and family. Mr. D. O'Connor, M.L.A., presided. He explained that the widow and children were quite destitute, the estate not having realized anything like what it ought to have done; and the mother was unable, from an affection of the mind, to take care of her children. Resolutions were passed authorizing a subscription list to be opened, pledging those present to the meeting to do all they could in the way of subscriptions, and appointing Messrs. R. Hutcher and E. J. Hollingdale treasurers, and Mr. Roach secretary. A considerable sum was collected in the room.

The monthly meeting of the Pharmaceutical Council was held on the last instant, at the society's rooms, Phillips-street. Mr. Senior, president, in the chair, with Messrs. Bow, Pratt, Guise, and Watt, Messrs. H. W. Chalmers, A. H. Medville, E. Wright, J. J. O'Reilly, A. Macdonald, J. A. Rose, and H. H. Parsons; and duly elected members of the society. The secretary reported that the examiners (Messrs. Senior, Larner, and Watt) had granted a certificate to Mr. A. J. O'Reilly, of Yaeo, who had passed the preliminary "theory" examination. The examination of the three others was postponed. The indentures of F. J. Thomas (to J. L. Barnett, of Inverclyde) were registered, and he was admitted as an associate. The usual correspondence was read, several accounts were passed, and the meeting closed.

A PUBLIC meeting was held last night in the Congregational Church, Surry Hills, in connection with the Boukate-trading auxiliary of the London Missionary Society. Mr. W. A. Buzacott occupied the chair, and the meeting was addressed by the Rev. W. G. Laws, of New Guinea, and the Rev. J. A. Buzacott, of London, the latter representative of the London society and was followed by Captain Turpie, the commander of the missionary ship John Williams, who took the opportunity of refuting certain slanderous reports respecting his ship as a trading vessel, and the missionaries working on board. Captain Turpie then read a paper on the commerce and civilization preceded the missionary, the fact being quite the other way. The Rev. W. G. Laws, of New Guinea, delivered an able and interesting address in relation to the people, the resources, and the geography of New Guinea, and the use of the land and the people, and money, nor does it possess many things which go to constitute the wealth of nations. Some parts are wonderfully rich, while other parts are rather repulsive than attractive; while of the people themselves they are about equal to other South Sea Islanders, though they are more advanced in civilization, at present in this meeting. Six of the crew of the John Williams, natives of Hervey Island, at Captain Turpie's request, sang two hymns in their own language to well-known tunes, and with a correctness which, while it surprised, delighted

A meeting of the Council of the New South Wales Land and Surveyors' Institute was held at Aspin's Exchange Hotel, at 4 o'clock on Monday last (28th February). Mr. Conley, vice-president, occupied the chair. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed. Several gentlemen were proposed for admission into the Institute, and their qualifications having been considered, were accepted. Notice of motion from different members of the Council were given, to be moved at its next meeting. Mr. Parrott, who had been on a visit to Melbourne and Tasmania, reported the result of his inquiries (acting upon a resolution passed at a previous meeting of the Council) in those places. It proved that the information he had gathered was very favourable to the Institute, and that the public were very in its labours. He was granted, a seat at one of the meetings of the Council of the Victorian Institute of Surveyors, and the question of reciprocity was discussed at that time, and showed that the opinion of the profession in that colony was nearly unanimous in its favour. The matter of a conference of delegates from the institutes in the various colonies to be held either in Melbourne or Sydney, was also gone into, and very favourably considered, and steps will at once be taken by the Council of the New South Wales Institute to form a committee to make arrangements for such a Conference, having for one of its many objects the establishment of reciprocity. It was also intended to form a committee to consider the incorporation of the Institute and the holding of a conversation. To the latter, which it is intended should take place about the beginning of May next, are to be sent some valuable instruments, books, plans, papers, &c., are to be sent from the Melbourne Exhibition. The business having been run through, the Council rose at 6 p.m.

The monthly meeting of the Council of the Agricultural Society was held yesterday, and after a lengthy sitting adjourned until Wednesday next. The show of sheep was fixed for the 3rd and 4th of August next. Mr. W. Richardson offers a cup, value 25 guineas, for the best merino ram, bred in New South Wales. Mr. Pitt will offer a prize of 10 guineas for the home jumping match. The Finance Committee's report showed a credit balance of £187. An executive committee for the ensuing year was appointed, and stewards in the various sections of the coming show were elected.

A MEETING of ministers and Sunday-school superintendents and teachers was held in the Young Men's Christian Association Rooms last night. Mr. J. H. Goodiet presided. There was a large attendance. The Rev. Dr. White opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes of the last meeting having been read, and a few accounts passed, a report was read from the Sunday School Union Committee, which stated that several meetings had been held, but, as so little interest was shown in the affair, the committee had decided to withdraw the matter.

minutes were then signed and the matter was voted upon. The motion then passed to order and the surplus funds of the Raikes Centenary celebration. A very long discussion followed, and various modes of disposing of it were suggested. Eventually a resolution, moved by Mr. J. Kent, and seconded by Mr. J. Hardie, was adopted. It ran as follows:—"That the balance of the money from the proceeds of sale of tickets at the Raikes Centenary Demonstration be expended in the purchase of books suitable for the use of Sunday-school teachers; such books to be lodged at the rooms of the Yorkshire Association of Sunday-school Teachers, 10, Farnham House, Farnham, London, E.C.4." The Yorkshire Library Association called the Raikes Centenary Library.

the same to be free to members of that association and open to all Sunday-school teachers in the colony on payment of an annual fee in advance, under such rules as may be made by a committee of seven gentlemen, who shall each be members of different evangelical churches, and be elected annually by members of every church in the colony, and be empowered to hand over the library to the Sunday-school Union, should one be formed on evangelical and unsectarian principles in the city." The committee was then elected, and consisted of Messrs. Hardie, Kent, Orr, Cramma, D. Walker, H. Carruthers, and Lewis. Votes of thanks to the honorary secretaries, the sub-committee, and the chairman were heartily given, and the meeting terminated with the benediction.

The monthly meeting of the Horticultural Society of New South Wales took place in the lecture hall of the School of Arts, last evening. Mr. P. N. Trebeck was voted to the chair. About fifty gentlemen and several ladies were present, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The exhibits, though not very numerous, were very good, and were much admired by those present. Mr. John Golding read an interesting paper on "Popular horticulture."

On Tuesday evening, 22nd February, a very interesting and instructive lecture was delivered in St. Andrew's Scots' schoolroom, in connection with the Mutual Improvement Association of that church, by Messrs. Diroks and Cormack—the subj being "Electro-Magnetism." Commencing with the first observation of galvanism, the lecturer touched upon all the great discoveries in the science, and gave many very interesting and instructive experiments, showing the different stages of progress, more especially in telegraphy; some very good models were also shown.

Gracious Majesty Victoria, Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Ireland, and of the Faith, Empress of India &c. &c. May it please your Majesty, the Governor, the Members of the Executive and faithful servants, members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, humbly desire respectfully to bring under your Majesty's gracious consideration the humanity of the lives, liberties, and property of the natives of the Colony of New South Wales, and to humbly pray your Majesty to cause an inquiry to be made into the working of the High Commissioner's Court for the Western Pacific, with a view of instituting trial by jury, and of securing to the natives and to the world these rights which are commonly enjoyed under the British Constitution. We feel assured that the extension of these rights will strengthen the sentiments of the affection, loyalty, and attachment of the natives to the British Crown, and the claims of your Majesty's subjects in the Australasian colonies. 2. That an address be presented to the Governor, praying that his Excellency will be pleased, at the earliest opportunity, to transmit the foregoing address to the Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies for presentation to her Majesty.

The adjournment of the House was moved in the Legislative Assembly last night by Mr. N. Melville, for the purpose of calling attention to the want of water at Temon. In the discussion which ensued several other subjects were introduced and eventually the motion was negatived. The Estimates were proceeded with and the education vote of £10,000 was granted. The first estimate dealt with was agreed to without restriction, although several important advantages of the occasion to ventilate their ideas as to how the children of the State should be educated. Several votes under the head of Public Instruction were agreed to and a lengthy and numerous discussion took place on the item for services in connection with opening the Museum on Sundays, which resulted in the amount being agreed to, an amendment to omit it being rejected.

The Committee of Education and Qualifications met on Monday night, the 10th inst., taking into consideration the petition of Mr. Radlett against the return of Mr. Jacob for the electorate of Gloucester. Some evidence was taken, and the committee adjourned.

A special meeting of the Sydney International Exhibition Commission was held on Tuesday afternoon at the Free Public Library, Sir James Macdonald, A. C., presided. Mr. R. W. Cameron, of New York, attended, and was welcomed by the Chairman, Mr. J. H. Macdonald, of the Commission. Some interesting correspondence was read from the Hon. W. M. Evans, Secretary of State, Washington; and the Hon. A. Cook, Minister of Education in the Government of Ontario, Canada. Sir P. A. Jennings, Executive Commissioner; and the secretary, Mr. A. Morris, read their reports. The latter's report showed that the medals had been ordered, and that the medals had been forwarded to their destinations. The preparation of the official record has been pressed forward, but it will take nearly another month to get the whole of the material ready for the printer. The staff is to be decreased as much as possible. The finance committee's report showed that the total income of the exhibition is $1,001,100. On 31st January last the sum of $10,901 had been advanced by the Treasury, of which the sum of $52,468 had been expended, leaving a balance to the credit of the Commission, on the date named, of 21,532. Votes of thanks to the Prince of Wales and to the Commissioners in the United States were passed for the general interest they had respectively manifested in the Exhibition.

It has been a matter of general complaint for some weeks past that the morning delivery of letters, &c., from the General Post Office has been much later than formerly; and, as various erroneous notices have been assigned, we have been asked by the Post Office authorities to explain that the delay has been entirely owing to the late arrival of the express train from Melbourne. Under the present arrangement this train could not be timed to leave Albany until fifty-eight minutes after the arrival of the Melbourne train at Wodonga. Its arrival in Sydney being thereby necessarily delayed until 7.35 a.m., and frequently later, instead of 6.50 a.m., as formerly. We are glad, however, to state that arrangements have been made by the Post Office authorities for their train to reach Wodonga forty-two minutes earlier than heretofore. Under this new arrangement, which will come into operation on the 8th instant, the mail train will leave Albany at 8 p.m. and reach Redfern not later than 7 a.m., and this will enable the postal authorities to deliver the mail delivery at the old hour of 8.45 a.m. from the head office.

The School Boards appointed at the Executive Cabinet meeting on Tuesday were—for No. 5 district, Ashfield and Uxurwood: No. 7, Lane Cove, St Leonard's, and Marilyn Beach: No. 8, Gladstone and Hunter's Hill; and No. 17, the Williams River. In these four districts the operation of the compulsory clause will be commenced.

The late Mr. Arthur H. Gardiner, one of the originators of coursing in New South Wales and a most enthusiastic supporter of the sport, was buried at the Necropolis yesterday. Amongst those present were several members of the New South Wales Coursing Club who were associated with him in its formation, and others who have since become connected with it. He fully recognized the loss the club has sustained by his death. Mr. Gardiner, who has been an extensive importer and breeder of greyhounds, and a liberal donor of prizes for coursing, was for some years the local representative of the English firm of Arthur and Co., woolen and soft goods manufacturers, &c., and died of typhoid fever at the age of 51.

In the Pull or Pull race, which is now being given at the Sydney City Course, by Messrs. Dimes and others, P. Brown and others, Blyden and others v. Dible and others, and settled the terms of each appeal. In Joubert v. Jeannott the rule laid for a new trial was refused. In re McGuire v. Taylor a writ of attachment was ordered to issue.

The proceedings at the sittings of the Court of Quarter Sessions were brought to a close on Tuesday evening last. The cases coming from the County Bench, charged against Elizabeth Woolley and Martha Dale, the jury, being unable to agree, were locked up all night. When brought into Court yesterday morning, they returned a verdict of guilty against both prisoners, who were thereupon sentenced to three months imprisonment, with hard labour.

A SERVICES OF THE SPRINKLING of the Sydney Infirmary was held Tuesday afternoon for the transaction of general business. Alderman Horsdon made inquiries relative to financial matters, and also asked who paid for banquets given to the directors annually, the last of which took place on Friday last. Some time elapsed before he elicited the information he desired. Eventually, however, he was informed that the banquet was given for the benefit of the infirmaries, whereupon he protested against the appropriation for such a purpose of money intended for charitable objects, and announced his intention of preventing it as far as possible in the future.

THE Imperial Government are taking very decided action with regard to the Boer rebellion. Prompted by the disastrous defeat which befell Sir George Colley and his troops on Saturday, they are dispatching large bodies of reinforcements to the scene of action in the Transvaal, an earnest of their determination to reassert the supremacy of British authority. The losses sustained by Sir George Colley's force amounted to 471, but this number includes the wounded and 250 prisoners. Our war correspondent informs us that the Agent-General for New South Wales, Mr. Saul Samuel, has addressed a very effective reply to the comments of the Times and Economist on the indebtedness of the Australian colonies.

THE greater part of the sitting of the Legislative Council yesterday was occupied in the further consideration in committee of the No-Liability Mining Companies' Bill, which was passed through committee with several amendments. The adoption of the report was postponed. A motion submitted by Sir John Robertson, approving of the plan, &c., of the proposed extension for the remaining portion of the railway from Wallerawang to Mudgee, was agreed to on a division. The Council adjourned till 10 o'clock next.

Mr. COMBES, in withdrawing his motion yesterday with reference to the protection of life and property in the islands of the Pacific Ocean, stated that he did so in order to bring the subject before the House in a different manner, and gave notice that he would on the 6th of April move,—“1. That the following humble address be presented to her Majesty:—To her Most

MELBOURNE, FEB. 28

We are still much exercised about our water supply. Of necessity the official mind is indignant that so much should have been uttered relative to the impurities said to be flowing into the Yan Yean reservoir. The Commissioner of Public Works looks a little boastfully ignorant when anybody asks him anything about it. The water companies about the city are not at all interested in looking forward to the official report of the board lately appointed to investigate it. Meantime, it certainly grows nastier. There was an exceptional scare the other day, when it was reported that a woman had died because of having drunk a glass of Yan Yean. She had certainly died after drinking it, and, on the old pro, hoo, prepter hoo, it was thought, it was proved that she had drunk a glass of Yan Yean poisoning. But the medical evidence as revealed by Dr. Nield, disclosed a diseased condition of nearly every vital organ, the result of years of intemperance. It was, in fact, an example of chronic alcoholic poisoning, of which we have so many instances in this city. For all that, the rumourous effect, and the amount of people are satisfied that the woman was poisoned by hydrophobic water. And the mention of water indirectly bonds one to the Yarra, and so to Yarra Bend, which institution was visited by the Chief Secretary the other day. He expressed himself as much disgusted with what he saw, and I do not wonder: for a more variable Slopely Hollow never existed. It was a place where the water was so much impure that it was to make of this place something deserving almost of the name of Paradise, for it has natural conditions

RAILWAY RATES TO WAGGA.

The question of the railway charges on goods conveyed by rail to Wagga has lately excited some little attention, owing to deputations that have waited on the Minister for Works and Letters in the newspapers, on the subject, and a memorial very largely signed by the inhabitants of the district in which the railway is situated, to the Minister for Works. times; so that in order to tempt the settlers of New South Wales to take the land, the Government has been obliged to make a large and a long lease of the land, and to make a large charge by the year. This tariff has been in force for years. It is defended upon the ground that the Railway Department is engaged in a business competition with the Colonists. But the Colonists are not the only ones. Radicals, among others, have applauded the arrangements, but they are horror-struck at the idea that New South Wales should impose duties on the Colonists. The Colonists, however, have been in Victoria as regards the wool, but recently they have extended the system to other goods. A merry vein of "quip and crank" runs through the whole book, which is indeed a well-written and accurate description of Victoria in 1880; as Mr. Charles Turner, the author's fellow worker in the same cause, has said, "it is a book that strikes of the many beautiful scenes the colony of boast, and draws them very faithfully, recording its grander 'bits' for full-page engravings, and working the smaller ones into dainty vignettes of lesser size. Some of the engravings are lithograph, and others are colored, and all are suitably and artistically arranged." It is, indeed, a book that has been seen in Australia. There seems, indeed, to have been in every department a lofty disregard for expense in the production of the sumptuous volume which Mr. Robertson has just published—a disregard especially noticeable in the large clear type of the wide margin, and in the elegant and artistic illustrations, and in the wealth of tasteful design lavished on the book, and the excellence of its binding. The book is a credit to all who can claim a share, however insignificant, its construction.

REPORTS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMISSIONER.

The Executive Commissioner said:—“Since the meeting of the commissioners, in July, no meetings for transaction of general business have been held. In September, when his Excellency the Governor-General, in company with his Excellency the Viceroy of India, visited New Zealand, to the Cape of Good Hope, a special meeting was called to arrange for a demonstration, to welcome him, and an arrangement was accordingly given for the reception of his Excellency the Governor-General, which took the form of a Te Hui at the Garden Palace, on which occasion the handsome Victoria Address of the colonist, which was adopted by the Imperial Government, was presented to his Excellency, and finally presented. The work done for the half-year, as will appear by the secretary's report, has been done under the immediate supervision of Mr. Morris, and the various medals and prizes, and the medals of diploma of award and medals to the prize-winners, and the adjoining colonies and the foreign countries participating in the Exhibition. The London Commission has been informed that the medals of the London Commission for the British exhibitors engraved: they have been informed that, as uniformity of action in these matters is most desirable, it is recommended that the medals be ordered by this Commission, pursuing the Philadelphia system, which we have Carried.

INTRODUCTION OF MR. CAMERON TO THE COMMISSION.

Mr. Frederick W. Cameron, who had been requested to the recent meeting of the Commission at the meeting, and was welcomed by Sir James Martin, chairman, on behalf of the Commission.

MR. CAMERON, in response to the chairman's words of welcome, said that he had met with many of these colonies since his recent arrival, and had been so warmly welcomed by his Sydney friends, that he scarcely the idea of leaving them. Mr. Cameron proceeded to inform the Commission that he had been invited by the States Government to participate in the Sydney International Exhibition, his action resulting—though somewhat late in the day, and after several months' delay—on the part of the States Government, from Congress voted appropriation to cover expenses connected with representation of the United States at Sydney. But he said that he had been invited to represent the United States both from New South Wales and the Foreign Office, United States would doubtless have been in a much higher degree successful at Sydney, and with a more imposing display of exhibits.

and introductory paper on the exhibits of the first, and Mr. Otley and myself are engaged in preparing a paper on the machinery exhibited; and, the better to enable us to do this, we have been permitted to examine the exhibits of the most valuable nature on this subject. It will take nearly a month longer, to get all of the present staff for a portion of the reason, to the aid of the staff of the official report, to the printer; but after that, Mr. Alderson, Mr. Manning, the chief clerk, and myself, will be sufficiently correct the proofs, and wind up all the loose ends of the Exhibition. To settle all the accounts with the Auditor-General the services of the accountant will be required perhaps for another month. All the staff, I think, will be required on and after that date, and they hold themselves ready to leave. I take this opportunity of bestowing my thanks on Mr. Cunningham, and on other gentlemen of the staff who have my supervision; these gentlemen have been invariably punctual in their attendance, and have always remained in the office until the last moment, and have been anxious to prevent the business falling into arrears. Our duty is invariably done, so far as possible, to deal with each day's business as it comes, and I have now to say closed. As an expression of the Commissioner's and his colleagues' appreciation of the services of the Executive Committee, have been in their Exhibition there had been collected together specimens of the art treasures and industrial products of all the nations of the world, and that it was of the greatest importance to any country. (Hear, hear.) The thanks of the Commission and the public at large were due to his Majesty for the practical interest he had taken in the success of the Exhibition. (Hear, hear.)

MR. DAVIES seconded the resolution, which was unanimously carried.

THE SPEAKER TO THE PRINCE OF WALES.

MR. J. H. MAY moved,—"That the thanks of the Commission be conveyed to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, President of the Royal Commission for the Art Treasures and Industrial Products of the World, and to him by all means calculated to promote the success of the Exhibition, and also for the valuable picture and objects sent to the Commissioners here." The Commissioners for the Art Treasures and Industrial Products of the World, by the success of the success of that important undertaking was due to the fact of his Royal Highness having consented to sit on the chair as president of the Royal Commission, and that the success of the Exhibition had been largely due to his exhibition. (Hear, hear.) He had much pleasure in presenting the resolution.

Mr. CAMERON, for the great colony of Canada, he knew he greatly he had exerted himself to induce that colony to take part in the exhibition, and he was very anxious to see that colony at the time. Mr. CAMERON said that he was very successful as he would have liked. This was, however, owing to no want of exertion on the part of Mr. CAMERON. (He then moved for a vote of thanks in supporting the resolution. Carried unanimously.

Mr. CAMERON, on behalf of himself and Mr. Penboe, acknowledged the vote of the Commission. He said that with regard to the exhibition, he was very anxious to see the international exhibition, that colony had just gone to the great deal of expense in connection with displays of art and manufactures, and that the colony had been invited to the international exhibition had only been two or three years ago. Canada would have been in a position to have operated most cordially. He would like to suggest to the Commission that they should send a Minister of Education for the province of Ontario, there being no proper representation for Canada, offered to send out a whole party of people, as he had shown here, and made by Dr. Crook's free gift to this colony.

The EXECUTIVE COMMISSIONER said that doubting the gift of Mr. Crook would be acknowledged by the Governor.

The PROCEEDING then terminated.

MIR, Mr. Mann, instructed by Mr. G. M. Dunn, moved for new trial, upon the ground that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence, and asked the Court to request the jury to state, on his notes, whether or not he was satisfied with the verdict. The Court refused, on the ground that it was not its duty to do so. The defendant's counsel declined to writing, the Court could form their own opinion as to the effect. But the Judge might say whether or not he believed a particular witness.

The new trial motion was postponed until Tuesday next.

JOBERT V. FRANKS ET AL.

Mr. Manning appeared for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Allen and Allen appeared for the defendant.

This case, which was tried last session, and which resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff, against all the co-defendants, except one, was remanded to the Supreme Court at Swanzey, Mr. Manning having applied for a rule nisi compelling upon the plaintiff to show cause why the verdict should not be set aside and a new trial granted, on the ground (1) that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence; and (2) that the Judge was wrong, in telling the jury without any qualification that the defendant would not be liable if the accident occurred through the negligence of the plaintiff's steamer, but that his Honor should have told the jury that under the circumstances they could find fault with the plaintiff's steamer, and that the defendant was not bound to pay the cost of the voyage.

The court reasonably held the defendant's steamer responsible under what turned out to be a misconception.

Rule refused.

RE NGUYEN AND TAYLOR.

Mr. Watt, instructed by Mr. Frechill, moved for a rule nisi that a writ of attachment issue to Daniel Doolan for failure to obey to a rule of Court made on May 6, 1890, requiring him to appear and pay costs in this matter.

Rule granted.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir.—The melancholy fate of the young lady who perished was found on the railway line last Saturday night. The body was lying on the rails, and it was found that it is one which should rouse great and small to action. Some persons agreed that some extreme measure is necessary, although the difficulty is to define what that should be; and others suggested that the proper course of action. The fact that in a thickly-populated neighbourhood a well-known actress should have been found dead on the rails in the afternoon and never to be seen or noticed by any one until her mangled remains are found at 10 o'clock at night is a thing which will find fault with those who start at the mere suggestion of a man who is supposed to be a devotee of foul play that on being thought over by more careful people almost assumes the shape of a comedy. The belief that in the very heart of our civilisation society has been terribly outraged. It is almost impossible to believe that a young lady should have been so suddenly after starting from Burwood at three should be wandering on the railway line, near Homebush, alive and well, and that anyone recollecting to have seen her in the interim, and not to have reported the matter, except such an hypothesis in explanation of the tragedy. If the lady had been visited, they must have some reason for not reporting her disappearance. It is almost impossible to believe that a young lady to have been returning home on an after-dark train, it is highly improbable that she should have been allowed to get on the rails, to the train at any rate. Of all mysteries, it is to me the most convincing, a fearful outrage has been committed in the eyes of the community. It is to be hoped that the society of the colony is or ought to be interested. I say the number of unavailing should be of universal concern. It is to be hoped that the public subscription be at once set on foot for the purpose of getting together such a sum of money as will enable the police to follow up the evidence of an accusation, evidence which is never forthwith followed up, and I need not here explain the well-known practice of large pecuniary rewards under similar circumstances. The contributors who can be called upon for the amount indicated should a list be opened, and I am quite sure that the public would be glad to see the list. I am, Sir, Yours truly, W. H. H. H.
